

Design your supports!

The NDIS can fund supports for you in your home to assist you to develop your independent living skills so that you can live as independently as possible.

Our personally led governance model means we work with you to design supports that best suit you in your chosen arrangement aligned with the NDIS Practice Standards.

We work collaboratively with you to provide the supports you need to live the life you desire.

And with years of experience and expertise in supporting people within very complex arrangements, with multiple supports, community, statutory, family and social interactions you can be confident that your supports and services are well managed to deliver the outcomes you require.

We also specialise in restrictive practice management with a focus on minimising and eliminating the need to use restrictive practices with a focus on the physical environment as well as support responses and practice.
